The International Studio & Curatorial Program (ISCP) presents Ahmad Fuad Osman: Archipelagic Alchemy, an exhibition that addresses the history of the empire by looking at relationships between seas and islands.

Presenting the installation Run for Manhattan by Ahmad Fuad Osman, this exhibition is curated by Carlos Quijon, Jr. for ISCP's project space. Run for Manhattan gathers archival clippings, popular culture materials, and a newly commissioned speculative video. All pertain to an episode of colonial history involving an exchange of islands in the seventeenth century between two colonial powers. The English traded Pulau Run, one of the Spice Islands, present-day Moluccas, in exchange for New Amsterdam, present-day Manhattan, traded by the Dutch. The exhibition's focal point will be an expansive image of the signing of a treaty in 1667 that ended the Second Anglo-Dutch War, and included a provision about the exchange of these two islands. Osman's work shows a moment in colonial history, European exceptionalism and its postcolonial implications.

Ahmad Fuad Osman has presented work internationally at venues including the Vargas Museum in Manila, Philippines; Kunsthal Rotterdam, The Netherlands; Sharjah Biennale, United Arab Emirates; Singapore Biennale, Singapore; The Singapore Art Museum, Singapore; Silverlens Gallery, Philippines; and Yokohama Museum of Art, Japan, among others.
