FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Claire Wu | Nagajima Creatives | hello@nagajimacreatives.com | www.nagajimacreatives.com

---

Creative Pathway Panel Event to Support Foreign-Born Creatives on April 25 A panel, a conversation, and a room built for New York City's international creative community

NEW YORK — April 10, 2026 — Nagajima Creatives announced today the launch of Creative Pathway, a curated panel and networking event for New York City's creative community. The event will take place Saturday, April 25, 2026, at Sixth Floor Loft in Manhattan's Flatiron District.

Creative Pathway is designed for foreign-born creatives across disciplines — designers, artists, performers, musicians, and beyond, navigating what it takes to build a sustainable creative career in the United States. While rooted in the experience of immigrant and foreign-born creatives, the event is open to all. Attendees will have access to honest industry perspectives, peer networking, and professional resources in an intimate, curated setting.

The program will feature a moderated panel conversation with working creatives who have navigated the industry firsthand — covering what the journey really looks like, what it takes to sustain a creative practice, and what they wish they had known earlier. Panelists include Bobi, live performer, electronic music composer and sound artist; Andy Lin, Artistic Director of the New Asia Chamber Music Society; Casper Yen, photographer and creative director; Julia Asher, Co-Founder and Executive Director of Emerging Artist Resources; and Barbiana Liu, independent graphic designer and content creator.

The event will also include a dedicated O-1 visa session led by immigration attorney Alejandro Filippa, offering a practical breakdown of the process, what to prepare, and how to get there. Open 1:1 consultations with Alejandro will be available for attendees seeking personalized guidance.

"Many creatives face similar challenges when building their careers in New York, but often navigate these challenges alone," said Claire Wu, event producer and founder of Nagajima Creatives. "Creative Pathway creates a space where creatives — especially those navigating identity, immigration, and industry at once — can find each other, access real perspectives from people who have lived this path, and take their next step with clarity."

The event is being held in partnership with Emerging Artist Resources, a New York-based arts administration organization supporting artists with fiscal services, resources, and professional development, and the Taiwanese Junior Chamber of Commerce New York, an organization connecting Taiwanese and international young professionals in New York City. Both organizations will have a presence on-site throughout the event.

Event Details:

- What: Creative Pathway
- When: Saturday, April 25, 2026, 1 PM - 5:30 PM
- Where: Sixth Floor Loft, Flatiron District, Manhattan
- Registration: Available at Posh, Luma and Eventbrite
    - Posh: https://posh.vip/e/creative-pathway
    - Luma: https://luma.com/d0u9di6q
    - Eventbrite: https://www.eventbrite.com/e/creative-pathway-tickets-1987743172337?aff=oddtdtcreator

Ticket Information:

- General Admission: $55
- General Admission + 10-Minutes Professional Consultation: $85

All ticket holders will receive access to the panel discussion, O-1 visa information session, networking, and community partner resources on-site.

For more information about Creative Pathway or to register for the event, visit https://posh.vip/e/creative-pathway or contact hello@nagajimacreatives.com.

About Nagajima Creatives Nagajima Creatives is a New York-based creative agency specializing in visual production, creative direction, and curated experiences for brands, creatives, and communities.

About Emerging Artist Resources Emerging Artist Resources (EAR) is a New York-based arts administration organization supporting artists with fiscal services, resources, and professional development. EAR works with individual artists, collectives, and organizations to provide practical, accessible, and sustainable administrative support.

About TJCCNY The Taiwanese Junior Chamber of Commerce New York (TJCCNY) is a nonprofit organization connecting Taiwanese and international young professionals in New York City through networking, professional development, and community engagement.